

Online: Threatening A Scientology Practice

Raymond Hill has an excellent page on Scientology's use of threats at xenu-directory.net. From: "R. Hill" <rhill@xenu-directory.net>

Frankly, I have to admit I never thought the "Threatening, a Scientology practice" was to grow this big when I started to collect instances of threat related to Scientology (it doesn't cover legal threats):

But it did. From this article, and more added lately:

=AB"One day two well-built men in dark suits from Saint Hill arrived at my door," she said. "I told them my husband wasn't in but they forced their way in and started riffling through the bookshelves. When my husband returned they bundled him into the car. "Finally he came back shaking from head to toe. He told me they'd threatened to kill him if he didn't tell him the whereabouts of some stolen documents."=BB -- The Daily Mail (May 19, 2007): "Tom Cruise's Church of hate tried to destroy me"

=ABThere, according to Rezendez, the Narconon official warned the newsman he was "a small fish in a big sea with a lot of f=B7cking sharks" and that he was dealing with an interplanetary organization." Barber allegedly promised to come after Rezendez with "hobnailed boots," and said "I will kick your ass up into your throat if I ever catch you f=B7cking around with Narconon."=BB -- Twin Cities Reader (Oct. 1981): "The Narconon sting: Scientology's Minnesota drug scam" by Paul Fishman Maccabee

=ABAAfter a very controversial show last week about the Church of Scientology it will be very interesting to see if J.T. Foxx is even alive to do the show this week as he has been threatened.=BB -- JT Foxx Show: "What's on Next Week" (as of Mar. 10, 2007)

And I still have to go through a *lot* of archives, and I will.
